Two gentlemen claiming to be from the lobbying firm McKinley and Quinn dropped by a reception held for Kirsten on Wednesday, March 9th. They gave no money and had no real conversations with anyone, and McKinley and Quinn have no one by the name "Ray" and "Mike" who work there. Since our guests did not sign in or provide last names we are not able to tell you more about them.

APRIL 21st: Kirsten met with members of the New York State United Teachers (NYSUT) at their headquarters in Latham, NY. Present at the meeting were Alan Lubin, Executive Vice President, John Costello, Assistant to the Executive Vice President, and Floyd Cameron, of Legislative Staff member and registered lobbyist. At the meeting a discussion took place about education in New York State and specifically the 20th Congressional District. Kirsten requested NYSUT's consideration for endorsement of her campaign.

MAY 1st: Kirsten had a meeting with Gerry Conway, Gail Myers and Elizabeth Dears from the Medical Society of the State of NY; all are registered lobbyists. Discussed at the meeting were ideas on how to lower the cost of healthcare. Kirsten also spoke with them about the possibility of having their support for her campaign.
